

Static internet presentation

Static internet presentation is a creation that unites an attractive and functional interface, formed in the site of catalog type, or brochures where a high-quality graphic design gives your site the credibility. During the production of sites, we stick to all the rules and principles of web development and therefore the main characteristics of our static sites are: aesthetics and layout, graphics and easy navigation.

We offer you effective, high-quality, creative and very affordable solutions. Each project is implemented by client specification and is absolutely ready to respond to your requests. Quality, well-designed web identity becomes essentially important in today's business, projecting a professional approach and pointing out all the advantages and the qualities of your product or service.

Typical WebPortal ™ Development static package includes:

- Careful process of designing the presentation, in accordance with your suggestions of style and appearance
 - Navigation of web site, which is specially designed in accordance with the look and graphics of the site
 - Compatibility testing of the site with a few most popular web browsers (IE, Mozilla, Opera, Safari ...)
 - Basic level of optimization for search engines and coding of 'meta tags', description and keywords
 - Up to 20 pages of website
 - Pre-defined amount of texts and links
 - Contact forms
 - Application for search engines
 - Consultations for suggestions on the content of the web site and Internet marketing
- Web site price is defined depending on complexity of the project.

In addition, in the Web development, as advanced segments of the website, we offer:

- Interactive web portal
 - CMS web site
 - ERP solutions (CRM portals)
 - Internet shops
 - Flash presentation
 - Multimedia presentations
- All the solutions realised by WebPortal ™ Development are adapted to the final needs of clients and are oriented to the greatest degree to the interaction with final users, giving you a unique and recognizable web site. Advantages of Web sites that are realized by WebPortal ™ Development are multiple, and they are reflected in the optimization itself and the structure of the site allowing easy and quick navigation and thus less time to the requested information. In order to reinforce the impression of visitors to your site and present your company in the best possible way, we use a rich graphical design, tools and applications, and also present the content of the site in an informative and accurate way.