

Interactive web portal

For better optimization of business processes in the company and improvement of the business, in the process of planning of the website, you should definitely take into consideration all the advantages of modern technical and technological solutions. WebPortal™ Development helps you to analyze all possibilities of interactive web portal and offers you the development of effective and appropriate web applications that will satisfy all your needs, as well as the ability to use the advantages of the newest and the most prosperous web technologies and tools in a more productive way, by creating an interactive web portal. Our software solutions are intended and are developed depending on the final users' needs and are an effective method of promotion, for the leaders in their fields of activity, as well as for small organizations, which recognize the advantages that offers high-quality online promotion.

WebPortal™ Development creates sites that are functional, aesthetically susceptible, easy to use, and directly related to your online marketing plans, including an attractive users' interface, with integration of database and content management of the site.

Besides the development of functional and high-quality sites, we recognize the growing demands from clients for managing the sites, so we provide fully functional CMS applications, online stores, Auto Stock Exchange, Rent A Car portals, portals for sale and rental of real estate... In addition, we suggest you also view other types of web sites that offer:

- Static websites
- CMS web site

- ERP solutions (CRM portals)
- Internet shops
- Flash presentation
- Multimedia presentations