

WebPortalCMS in version 1.5

At the beginning of September, our new CMS system for managing the content on the web saw the light of a day. As with previous editions, WebPortalCMS is a unique and simple tool for managing the content on the Web. In version 1.5, it brings many improvements, of which the most important are:

- Significantly improved usability, easier management and scalability
- Extended support for multilingualism, the entire interface is in Serbian, with the possibility of selecting all European languages as well as with support for Arabic, Faroese, and the Hebrew language for an example, among others
- Integration with external applications through web service and remote check identity, such as LDAP, is also improved
- The majority of components and other templates have remained compatible with minor modifications of the code
- Enabled the migration from previous version
