

Terms of Use

Using any of webportalgroup.net portal and all of its parts of the company SBS from Kragujevac (below only as webportalgroup.net), you automatically accept all current terms of use.

Users are required to read the rules of use regularly, so it is considered that the users, having a continuous use of webportalgroup.net portal, or any of its parts, are, at any time, acquainted with the current terms of use, and that, therefore, they have understood it entirely.

No part of webportalgroup.net portal can be used for unlawful purposes, or for their promotion. webportalgroup.net portal The company "SBS" Kragujevac, having good intention, provides visitors with the use of content of webportalgroup.net portal. All visitors have the right to use the content of webportalgroup.net portal for free, if they do not violate the terms of use.

webportalgroup.net portal consists of its own contents, contents of partners and advertisers, free contents, contents created by visitors and links to external sites.

webportalgroup.net publishes contents in good intention. All contents of webportalgroup.net portal are used at your own liability and webportalgroup.net cannot be considered responsible for any harm resulting from the use.

Access to webportalgroup.net portal and to all its contents is allowed to persons of any age. Copyright webportalgroup.net claims copyrights on all its own contents (textual, audio and visual materials, databases and programmer code). Unauthorized use of any portion of the portal is considered a violation of copyright of webportalgroup.net portal and it is subject to the claim.

An unauthorized use of any portion of the portal, without the permission of the copyright holder (webportalgroup.net, partners, customers ...) is considered a violation of copyright law and are subject to the claim.

If you believe that webportalgroup.net violated your copyright, the case will be considered instantly, and the problematic content will be removed immediately after the eventual establishment of the truthfulness of content complaints. Links to external sites webportalgroup.net contains links to sites outside its own portals.

webportalgroup.net publishes links in good intention and cannot be considered responsible for the content outside the portal. External staff webportalgroup.net protects the users' privacy to the greatest possible extent .

webportalgroup.net commits itself to use the information in good intention obtained from the users during the proces of using the portal, so that private information will not be distributed, or sold to a third party, except with the permission of users.

webportalgroup.net can, in accordance with the law, collect certain data about users obtained during the use of the portal (only information about the computer and data about the Internet service provider) or data entered into the registration. webportalgroup.net uses these data to have information on users who use it, so that, in this way, it may improve the portal and further direct its contents and adapt it to the audience visiting it. Based on these data, we find which contents are the most popular among which audience.

webportalgroup.net commits itself not to sell nor distribute private information, such as e-mail addresses, names and surnames, without the permission of each individual user, except demographic data for the user group without revealing private information.

webportalgroup.net commits itself to protect the privacy of the portal's users, except in the case of serious violations of webportalgroup.net portal terms or in the case of users' illegal activities.

webportalgroup.net reserves the right to change or modify the rules periodically without notice . webportalgroup.net can notify users about the important changes and amendments via e-mail or publishing it on the portal.

The use of any content on the webportalgroup.net portal is considered that you are familiar with the latest rules.